

More than Bananas

Instead of nothingness, there's us.
Instead of a blank oblivion, there are celebrity
TV shows, duck-billed platypuses, galaxies, music, cheese, and you and I.

There's got to be a story behind this. How was this allowed to happen?

How did nothing become something?
And how did the something become this?

Not to mention

Why is there suffering in the world?

or

Why are there three-toed sloths?

and

How do I live a good life?

Science explains why I evolved to eat bananas, but not the rest of this stuff.

To explore that, we need something more than bananas.

Born out of three near-death experiences in four years, More than Bananas is a robust, witty and personal description of what the Christian faith is and how it works.

Glenn Myers has degrees in physics and missions and theology.

More than 150,000 copies of his books are in print, including the best-selling World Christian Starter Kit and the Briefings series (Authentic 1998-2006). Many of his books have been translated. Some are being printed in China to help give missions vision to the underground Chinese church.

'Your book is wonderful! I do hope that it is very widely read.'

Prof. Sir Colin Humphreys, CBE, FRS, Cambridge University.

'... Quite splendid, one of the best Christian books I have read since C S Lewis ... It is one of the very best pieces of contemporary apologetics I have ever read: clear, flowing prose, complex ideas simply expressed. In my judgement entirely acceptable and orthodox theology. Hooray!'

David Satchell
